EMPLOYMENT

End Violence Against Women International (EVAWI) 2004 – Present

Founding Director, Director of Research

In 2003, I was invited to serve as a Founding Director for End Violence Against Women International (EVAWI), a fledgling nonprofit dedicated to improving criminal justice responses to sexual assault and other forms of gender-based violence. In 2004, I assumed the role of Director of Research and helped grow EVAWI into the premiere training organization on sexual assault investigations, providing superior training and resources, influencing national policy, and mentoring a new generation of future leaders,

During my tenure, I have helped EVAWI secure more than $11.7 million in public grants and private funding. I have also developed training materials and publications, and personally provided training and technical assistance for tens of thousands of professionals in diverse fields, including law enforcement, victim advocacy, health care, and prosecution, in communities, on campuses, and in the U.S. military. In 2011, we expanded EVAWI's impact with the launch of Start by Believing, a public awareness campaign designed to transform the way professionals and the public respond to victims of sexual violence. We also introduced Seek Then Speak, an online tool offering sexual assault survivors and others a way to privately gather information, explore options, and take action. If they choose, survivors can begin the process of reporting to police by completing a self-guided interview. In 2023, EVAWI was awarded a first-of-its-kind contract with the city of Austin, TX to conduct case review and an incremental audit of sexual assault investigations by the Austin Police Department.

Chief Penny Harrington & Associates, L.L.C. 2001 – 2005

Director of Research and Training

Chief Penny Harrington & Associates is a private consulting firm specializing in employment discrimination and sexual harassment, with particular emphasis on law enforcement organizations. As Director of Research and Training, I reviewed policies, procedures, and other materials relating to civil legal cases and contributed to the development of expert reports to be submitted to the court.

National Center for Women & Policing 1999 – 2003

Director of Research

As Director of Research, my responsibilities included: reviewing empirical literature on sexual assault, policing, and criminal justice policy; developing grant proposals and reporting on outcomes; conducting original research; and providing training and technical assistance to researchers, practitioners, media, and policymakers. I also served as Project Director on a grant awarded by the Office on Violence Against Women, U.S. Department of Justice, to develop a training curriculum for law enforcement in sexual assault investigation, with particular emphasis on cases involving known offenders (i.e., non-strangers). I then hosted two national "train-the-trainer" workshops to certify individuals from around the country to implement the training curriculum program in their state or region. As Project Director, I administered a budget of over $280,000 and completing all federal reporting requirements.

American Bar Foundation
Post-Doctoral Research Fellow

1996 – 1998

Upon completion of my doctoral degree, I served in a two-year post-doctoral fellowship with the American Bar Foundation, a nonprofit research foundation dedicated to the interdisciplinary study of law and society. My primary role was to expand my research program on sexual assault and law enforcement response. Additional duties included participating in research seminars and conferences, reviewing papers and research proposals, and actively collaborating with colleagues in a wide variety of disciplines, including sociology, political science, history, economics, anthropology, geography, and law.

CONSULTING SERVICES

2003 – 2019

I provided consulting services for attorneys, nonprofit organizations, and other clients. This primarily included service as an expert witness on topics related to sexual assault, sexual harassment, and law enforcement. In addition, I provided clients with expert consultation on research methods and results.

UNIVERSITY TEACHING

California Polytechnic State University, Department of Psychology

1998 – 2007

I taught courses on Introductory Psychology, Applied Social Psychology, Personality Psychology, and Quantitative Research Methods, and supervised undergraduate research interns and senior projects.

DePaul University, College of Law

1998

I taught Psychology of the Courtroom (one semester, co-taught with Professor Stephan Landsman)

University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, Department of Psychology

1993 – 1994

I taught Community Health Practicum on Acquaintance Sexual Assault (two semesters)
